

Signs of Zodiac

New Light

Longing for the daybreak
The end of the night with her thoughts and dreams
The wind sweeps away some leaves up high
Up in the violet sky.

And now when the new sun rises up
And the old moon says goodbye
Now the new day has begun.
I've realised it now:
All the others waste this time

Refrain:
Every morning I come to this place
To see the new light burning
With every breath I take
Something more around me begins to live

Born.. grown.. got older.. dead..
Longing for the night – the darkness,
which hides my pain.
Longing for the silence – the end of endless thinking.
Longing for the dead – which saves me from all my feelings.

Every morning I come to this place
To see the new light burning
Woken up.. recognised.. experienced,
Extinct.. between them – I've been here.