

Signs of Zodiac

Smallest one

See a path with your eyes closed
All the small things are suddenly big
The wide shining in your eyes
Diving into the spectrum off all colours
Invisible warm light
Every day starts without boredom

Contrary to the light
Dust particles dancing in the sunbeam
How infinite great even the smallest one is

Crickets and an owl watching everything
A shooting star with many wishes in its heart
But if I ever reach my destination,
Tiny lights in the night sky
The soul has discovered her home
But if I ever reach, my destiny will die!

Contrary to the light
Dust particles dancing in the sunbeam
How infinite great even the smallest one is